One day workshop with Marion Balla 'Social equality in the workplace'

Marion Balla is a Registered Social Worker who has provided counselling and consulting services for over 45 years in the fields of mental health and education for therapists, and clients as well as in workplaces and organizations.

Her therapy is based on a holistic, cognitive-behavioural model of psychotherapy rooted in the theory and practice of Adlerian Psychology.

Alfred Adler was a physician, psychotherapist, and the founder of Adlerian psychology. He held equality, civil rights, mutual respect, and the advancement of democracy as core values.

In this interactive workshop we will explore the importance of social equality in the workplace and how we can establish it. Social equality requires new ways of leading and relating.

Cooperatively, we will look at leadership approaches, group processes, rights and responsibilities, and explore feelings and actions that undermine democratic living.
